As Admiral Nelson and Seaview Captain John Phillips drive urgently to a top level meeting, they are attacked by enemy agents. Phillips and the motorcycle escort are killed, but Nelson survives to make the conference and press home his theory that only a controlled nuclear explosion at the polar icecap can prevent a massive earthquake sending huge tidal waves sweeping down the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines in eleven days, decimating half the planet. With his plan reluctantly approved, Nelson takes aboard specialist Dr Fred Wilson and a new Seaview captain, the young but highly-rated Lee Crane, on loan from the Navy. But the trip to the Arctic Circle is not without its hazards, and the submarine is depth charged and bombed from the air, as the destruction of the 'free world' would be welcomed by a hostile foreign power.

First US transmission: 14th September 1964

A2 The City Beneath the Sea

Writer ..... Richard Landau
 Director ..... James Brahm
Zeraff (Hurd Hatfield), Melina (Linda Cristal), Round Face (John Anderson)
 The Seaview investigates the unexplained loss of two ships, both of which have disappeared in the Aegean. When the submarine is damaged by a booby trap, Lee Crane goes undercover, posing as a deep-sea diver. He is soon hired by the wealthy, wheelchair-bound, Zeraff, who promises him that untold riches lie underwater nearby. But during Crane's dive, he is abducted to a fantastic underwater city, from which Zeraff plans to rule the world.

First US transmission: 21st September 1964

A3 The Fear Makers

Writer ..... Anthony Wilson
 Director ..... Leonard Horn
Dr Arthur Kenner (Edgar Bergen), Dr Martin Davis (Lloyd Bochner)

The prototype atomic submarine Polidor is lost with all hands during sea trials. Nelson, who designed the sub, is desperate to find out why its largely Seaview loaned crew seemed to panic at crush depths. A congressional committee insists that Nelson take Dr Arthur Kenner, an expert on emotional stress, on the mission, but Kenner's assistant, Dr Martin Davis, is an enemy agent who released a fear-inducing gas on the Polidor and soon does the same aboard the Seaview.

First US transmission: 28th September 1964

A4 The Mist of Silence

Writer ..... John McGreevey
 Director ..... Leonard Horn
Detta Casone (Rita Gam), Ricardo Galdez (Alejandro Rey), General Esteban D'Alvarez (Mike Kellin), Cpt Serra (Henry Del Gado), President Fuente (Edward Colmans), Malone (Doug Lambert), Chairman (Booth Colman)

Assigned to rescue Latin American President Fuente, the Seaview travels to a secret rendezvous. However, the President's ship is empty and Nelson leads a landing party ashore to find him. He discovers that the military has a new weapon, a cloud-like gas which subdues anyone who comes in contact with it.

First US transmission: 5th October 1964

A5 The Price of Doom

Writer ..... Harlan Ellison
 Director ..... James Goldstone.
Julle Lyle (Jill Ireland), Dr Karl Reisner (David Opatoshu), Phillip Wesley (John Milford), Oennell (Steve Ihnat), Mrs Pennell (Pat Priest), General (Dan Seymour), Crewcut Man (Ivan Triesault)

The Seaview loses radio contact with Dr Pennell at Ice Station Tick-Tock, and travels to the Arctic and takes samples of a strange plankton aboard. Soon, the plankton expands into a deadly organism, threatening the lives of all on board.

First US transmission: 12th October 1964

A6 The Sky is Falling

Writer ..... Don Brinkley
 Director ..... Leonard Horn
Rear Adm. Walter Tobin (Charles McGraw), Spaceman (Joseph di Reda), Air Force General (Frank Ferguson)

A UFO appears over Washington, across California and disappears into the Pacific Ocean. When a navy search ship is lost, Rear Admiral Walter "Trigger Happy" Tobin takes charge of the Seaview, determined to destroy the UFO which he believes to be hostile. The sub finds the UFO, but all electronic systems are jammed. With life-support failing, Nelson, convinced the craft is non-hostile, enters the ship and comes face to face with himself...

First US transmission: 19th October 1964

A7 Turn Back the Clock

Writer ..... Sheldon Stark
 Director ..... Alan Crosland Jnr
Jason Kemp (Nick Adams), Carol Denning (Yvonne Craig), Dr Denning (Les Tremayne), Native girl (Vitina Marcus), Zeigler (Robert Cornthwaite), Crewman (Mark Slade)

Lost in the Antarctic for nine months, Jason Kemp turns up with an incredible story about a tropical wilderness inhabited by dinosaurs. Kemp carries a sample of dinosaur skin which proves no more than a year old. Nelson takes the Seaview south, determined to find the lost world and rescue Professor Denning, the leader of Kemp's expedition.

First US transmission: 26th October 1964

A8 The Village of Guilt

Writer ..... Berne Giler
 Director ..... Irwin Allen
Mattson (Richard Carlson), Sigrid (Anna-Lisa), Dalgren (Steven Geray), Hassler (Frank Richards), Anderson (G Stanley Jones)

The Seaview travels to the North Sea to investigate recent attacks on fishing boats by what are described as sea monsters. Arriving at the local village, Nelson soon learns that a deranged scientist, Lars Mattson, has perfected an enlarging chemical, with which he has developed a gigantic octopus.

First US transmission: 2nd November 1964

A9 Hot Line

Writer ..... Berne Giler
 Director ..... John Brahm
Gronski (Everett Sloan), Gregory Malinoff (Michael Ansara), US President's assistant (James Doohan)

The Russians launch a nuclear-powered satellite, but it is sabotaged and will detonate near San Francisco. The Russian Chairman contacts the American President and two Russian technicians, Malinoff and Gronski, are loaned to the Seaview to deactivate the device, but Gronski is an impostor who plans to wreck the mission.

First US transmission: 9th November 1964

A10 Submarine Sunk Here

Writer ..... William Tunberg
 Director ..... Leonard Horn
Evans (Carl Reindel), Harker (Eddie Ryder), Blake (Robert Doyle)

The Seaview blunders into an abandoned World War II minefield and explosions send it to the bottom of the sea. Many of the crew are dead, water is rising and the only hope lies with Chip Morton back at base and the sub's diving bell.

First US transmission: 16th November 1964

A11 The Magnus Beam

Writer ..... Alan Caillou
 Director ..... Leonard Horn.
Juana Rossi (Monique Lemaire), General Gamal (Malachi Throne), Abdul Azziz (Jacques Aubuchon), Amadi (Mario Alcaide)

Middle Eastern dictator General Gamal has plans to turn his small country into a world power with the Magnus Beam, which affects any device made of steel. Crane goes undercover to investigate the destruction of several American spy planes and the Seaview is lured into a deadly trap.

First US transmission: 23rd November 1964

A12 No Way Out

Writers ..... Robert Hamner and Robert Leslie Bellem
 Director ..... Felix Feist
Anton Koslow (Than Wyenn), Anna Ravec (Danielle de Metz), Col Lascoe (Oscar Beregi), Victor Vail (Jan Merlin), Wilson (Don Wilbanks), Parker (Richard Webb)

Defecting 'Red' agent Anton Koslow is being smuggled to the US in the Seaview, but the man sent to debrief him is killed and replaced by top Russian agent, Victor Vail, who means to kill the defector before he can reveal what he knows of their spy network.

First US transmission: 30th November 1964

A13 The Blizzard Makers

Writer ..... William Welch
 Director ..... Joseph Leytes.
Frederick Cregar (Werner Klemperer), Dr Charles Melton (Milton Selzer)

With unprecedented blizzards ravaging Florida, Admiral Nelson invites Gulf Stream expert Dr Charles Melton to join an investigative expedition. Melton is kidnapped and brainwashed by foreign agent Frederick Cregar who, attempting to conceal the fact that the blizzards were caused by a secret nuclear weapon test, orders him to sabotage the mission and kill Nelson.

First US transmission: 7th December 1964

A14 The Ghost of Moby Dick

Writer ..... Robert Hamner
 Director ..... Sobey Martin.
Dr Walter Bryce (Edward Binns), Ellen Bryce (June Lockhart), Jimmy Bryce (Bob Beekman)

Brilliant marine biologist Dr Walter Bryce is crippled and his son killed while trying to harpoon a huge whale in the Pacific. Bryce, a former student of Admiral Nelson, persuades Washington to assign Seaview to locate the whale, ostensibly for scientific research but in reality for revenge.

First US transmission: 14th December 1964

A15 Long Live The King

Writer ..... Raphael Hayes
 Director ..... Laslo Benedek.
Old John (Carroll O'Connor), Prince Ang (Michael Petit), Cnl Meger (Michael Pate), Countess (Sara Shane), Georges (Jan Arvan)

The King of a small country is murdered and the Seaview is assigned to deliver 12 year old Prince Ang back to his country before an anti-US faction can take control. But the boy claims someone tried to kill him on board and an enemy submarine attacks. Soon after, the Seaview rescues a strange castaway, Old John, in the middle of the Pacific and he befriends the lonely boy.

First US transmission: 21st December 1964

A16 Hail to the Chief

Writer ..... Don Brinkley
 Director ..... Gerd Oswald.
Laura Rettig (Viveca Lindfors), Dr Taylor (Tom Palmer), Monique (Nancy Kovack), Oberhansly (Lorence Kerr), Tobin (James Doohan)

US President Henry Talbot McNeil receives a head injury while visiting South America and must receive a delicate operation within 36 hours, or die. The Seaview is dispatched with a medical team, unaware that the mission has been discovered by enemy agents and that specialist Dr Taylor has been murdered and replaced by Laura Rettig, who plans to kill the President on the operating table.

First US transmission: 28th December 1964

A17 The Last Battle

Writer ..... Robert Hamner
 Director ..... Felix Feist.
Schroder (John Van Dreelen), Reinhardt (Dayton Lumis), Miklos (Joe De Santis), Brewster (Ben Wright), Tomas (Rudy Solari), Deiner (Eric Feldary), Stewardess (Sandra Williams)

Nelson is drugged while flying to Washington and captured by Nazis. Their leader, Colonel Alfred Schroder, tells Nelson that he will work with other captured scientists on plans to destroy both the United States and Russia, leading to the emergence of a Fourth Reich.

First US transmission: 4th January 1965

A18 Mutiny

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
 Director ..... James Goldstone.

Admiral Starke (Harold J Stone), Doctor (Richard Bull), Captain (Jay Lamin)

As Admiral Nelson scuba-dives from the experimental submarine Neptune with his friend, Captain Jim Fowler, it is attacked by a gigantic jellyfish and destroyed. While the two men spend several miserable days adrift in the Pacific, Admiral Jiggs Starke takes command of the Seaview to begin an investigation and makes everyone's lives miserable.

First US transmission: 11th January 1965

A19 Doomsday

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
 Director ..... James Goldstone.

Corbett (Donald Harron), Corporal (Sy Prescott), General Ashton (Paul Genge), President (Ford Rainey), Doctor (Richard Bull)

It is 1973. A foreign power launches 25 communications satellites simultaneously which is interpreted by SAC General Ashton as a nuclear attack and the US is placed on war alert. The Seaview's Fail-Safe systems are activated, and Crane reluctantly prepares to fire missiles at Russia. At the last minute, a cancellation signal is received, but one of the sub's four Fail-Safe computers will not deactivate...

First US transmission: 18th January 1965

A20 The Invaders

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
 Director ..... Sobey Martin.

Zar (Robert Duvall), Foster (Michael McDonald)

The Seaview is shaken near the ocean floor by an earthquake which unearths an ancient city. Divers retrieve one of many large metal cylinders on the sea floor and it contains a man-like creature. He revives and claims that his people evolved 20 million years before man but went into suspended animation when the Earth became too hot for them. Now he plans to revive his people and reclaim the planet.

First US transmission: 25th January 1965

A21 The Indestructible Man

Writer ..... Richard Landau
 Director ..... Felix Feist

The Seaview recovers Space probe MISP-1 (Man in Space Probe 1) and its occupant, the first 'man' to travel to another planet, is an advanced robot. Its creator, Dr Brand, unsuccessfully tries to download its information, and when the mechanical man begins to run amok, crippling the submarine, it becomes obvious it has been reprogrammed into a deadly weapon.

First US transmission: 1st February 1965

A22 The Buccaneer

Writers ..... William Welch and
 ..... Albert Gail
 Director ..... Laslo Benedek

Logan (Barry Atwater), Igor (George Keymas), French Captain (Emile Genest)

A mad art connoisseur, Logan, has spent a fortune to assemble a gifted crew of submariners who overpower the Seaview's crew and take command of the sub. He plans to use it to overpower a French warship which is transporting the Mona Lisa to the 1975 Australian World's Fair.

First US transmission: 8th February 1965

A23 The Human Computer

Writer ..... Robert Hamner
 Director ..... James Goldstone.

Man (Harry Millard), Reston (Simon Scott), 1st Admiral (Herbert Lytton), 2nd Admiral (Walter Sande), Foreign General (Ted De Corsia)

The Pentagon selects the Seaview to test the 'Super Brain', a highly advanced computer which is capable of controlling the submarine without human aid, on a war game manoeuvre. Crane is left aboard as an observer, unaware that he is not alone as a foreign agent strives to kill him and steal the computer.

First US transmission: 15th February 1965

A24 The Saboteur

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
 Director ..... Felix Feist.

Forester (Warren Steevens), Dr Ulman (Bert Freed)

The Seaview is placed under the strictest security for its latest secret mission: the deployment of self-contained remote controlled nuclear missiles which will counter any attack against the US. However, Crane has already been kidnapped and brainwashed by the Peoples Republic and will stop at nothing to sabotage the mission.

First US transmission: 22nd February 1965

A25 Cradle of the Deep

Writer ..... Robert Hamner
Director ..... Sobey Martin.

Dr Janus (John Anders), Dr Andrew Benton (Howard Wendell), O'Brien (Derrick Lew), Helmsman (Robert Pane)

Dr Wesley Janus has developed a device to accelerate the process of evolution, but needs samples of primitive life to continue his work. Nelson agrees to help and the Seaview soon heads towards the 'Graveyard of Submarines', an area noted for dangerously turbulent waters. A microscopic particle is brought aboard the sub and, following Janus' treatment, grows into an enormous protoplasm which threatens the lives of all aboard.

First US transmission: 1st March 1965

A26 The Amphibians

Writer ..... Rik Vollaerts
Director ..... Felix Feist.

Doc (Richard Bull), Dr Jenkins (Skip Homeier), Dr Winslow (Curt Conway), Andie (Zale Parry)

Two over-zealous scientists, Doctors Winslow and Jenkins, have been working in the underwater XP1 lab studying the adaptability of human beings under water, but after six months' work have surgically transformed themselves into amphibians. The Seaview arrives with supplies to discover that they have been capturing skin divers and turning them into an amphibian army.

First US transmission: 8th March 1965

A27 The Exile

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
Director ..... James Goldstone.

Brynov (Edward Asner), Josip (David Sheiner), Konstantin (Harry Davis), Semenev (James Frawley), Mikhail (Jason Wingreen)

Premier Brynov, leader of the hostile Peoples Republic, is supposed to have resigned, but actually faces a firing squad.

All systems go...

Rescued by sympathizers he escapes and Admiral Nelson is ordered to rendezvous with his ship as Brynov, supposedly, is carrying vital information of a plot to destroy the free world. However, moments after Nelson boards, an aircraft destroys Brynov's ship and the Admiral finds himself sharing a life raft with Brynov and the exiles.

First US transmission: 15th March 1965

A28 The Creature

Writer ..... Rik Vollaerts
Director ..... Sobey Martin.

Cpt Wayne Adams (Leslie Nielson), Crewman (Pat Culliton), Radar Man (William Stevens)

Captain Wayne Adams, the only survivor of an ill-fated rocket launch, is convinced the project was destroyed by underwater ultrasonic sound waves. The government urges Nelson and the Seaview to help Adams search, and at incredible depths, the sub discovers the ultrasonic source, a huge manta ray, which rams the ship, damaging the air-purification system.

First US transmission: 22nd March 1965

A29 The Enemies

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
Director ..... Felix Feist.

General Tau (Henry Silva), Dr Shinera (Malachi Throne)

The US navy submarine Angler is destroyed following a violent quarrel between its captain, Jim Williams and first mate, Frank Richardson, resulting in the sub ramming an underwater mountain range. While exploring an uncharted island nearby, Nelson and Crane are captured and brought before General Tau, who heads a secret Peoples Republic scientific operation, which has learnt how to turn close friends into bitter enemies.

First US transmission: 29th March 1965

A30 Secret of the Loch

Writer ..... Charles Bennett
Director ..... Sobey Martin.

Prof MacDougal (Torin Thatcher), Inspector Lester (Hedley Mattingly), Angus (George Mitchell), Andrews (John McLiam)

The Seaview is sent to Loch Ness to investigate a 'monster' attack and the deaths of several men. The incident is particularly worrying as the US and British governments have set up a top secret underwater laboratory seven hundred feet below the surface of the Loch where a scientist named Crothers is supposed to be working on an ultimate weapon.

First US transmission: 5th April 1965

A31 The Condemned

Writer ..... William Reed Woodfield
Director ..... Leonard Horn

Admiral Falk (J D Cannon), Archer (Arthur Franz), Hoff (Alvy Moore)

Egotistical scientist Admiral Falk is given control of the Seaview to test his revolutionary deep-diving pressure system, but Falk is really a fraud who simply claims credit for the work of his assistant, Archer. When a huge beast attacks a diving bell resulting in Archer's death, Falk has no idea how to operate 'his' system as the Seaview heads for the bottom.

First US transmission: 12th April 1965

A32 The Traitor

Writers .. William Welch & Albert Gail
Director ..... Sobey Martin

Major General Fenton (George Sanders), Hamid (Michael Pate), Girl (Susan Flannery)

Admiral Nelson receives word that his young sister has been abducted in France by enemy agents who mean to force him into revealing the exact location of US underwater missile sites. Nelson travels to Marseilles for a secret meeting with her captors and learns that a top ranking NATO officer, Major General Fenton, is really a foreign agent.

First US transmission: 19th April 1965
